

MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC

AUDIOLOGY CLINIC

SPEECH AND
LANGUAGE CLINIC

BYU COMPREHENSIVE CLINIC
241 JOHN TAYLOR BUILDING (TLRB)
1190 NORTH 900 EAST
PROVO, UT 84602

Comprehensive Clinic
AT BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY

The Brigham Young University Comprehensive Clinic is a training, service, and research facility for graduate programs in helping services at BYU. Several of BYU's clinical training programs combine under one roof in the John Taylor Building to provide services to the public and the university community. Individuals and families desiring services are generally seen or evaluated by graduate students under the supervision of experienced faculty.

OUR SERVICES

THE MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC offers a wide range of evaluations, psychotherapy, and psycho-educational groups for individuals, couples, and families. The clinic is administered by faculty and graduate students from the College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences representing the Clinical Psychology, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Social Work departments.

THE AUDIOLOGY CLINIC provides comprehensive testing of hearing, listening, and balance and dispenses hearing aids. Services also include treatment, prevention, and education related to hearing loss and deafness and to conserving hearing in loud environments.

THE SPEECH AND LANGUAGE CLINIC provides testing and treatment for communication disorders occurring throughout life. Services cover childhood speech and language problems; stuttering, fluency, and voice disorders; and the rehabilitation of various speech and language impairments associated with problems such as stroke, traumatic brain injury, cerebral palsy, and cleft lip and palate. Call (801) 422-2870 or visit us on the Web at education.byu.edu/comd/ and select Speech and Language Clinic.

The Audiology Clinic and the Speech and Language Clinic are administered by faculty and graduate students from the David O. McKay School of Education's Department of Communication Disorders.

LDS FAMILY SERVICES

Also located in the building is LDS Family Services. The state-licensed adoption agency offers counseling in individual, family, and group settings for those seeking to place a child for adoption. Pregnancy counseling for those undecided about their child's future is also available. Members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints desiring to adopt are encouraged to contact the agency. Additionally, the agency provides individual, marital, family, and group therapy to members of the Church of Jesus Christ as well as free consultation to Church leaders. For more information call (801) 422-7620. Visit us on the Web at ldsfs.org.

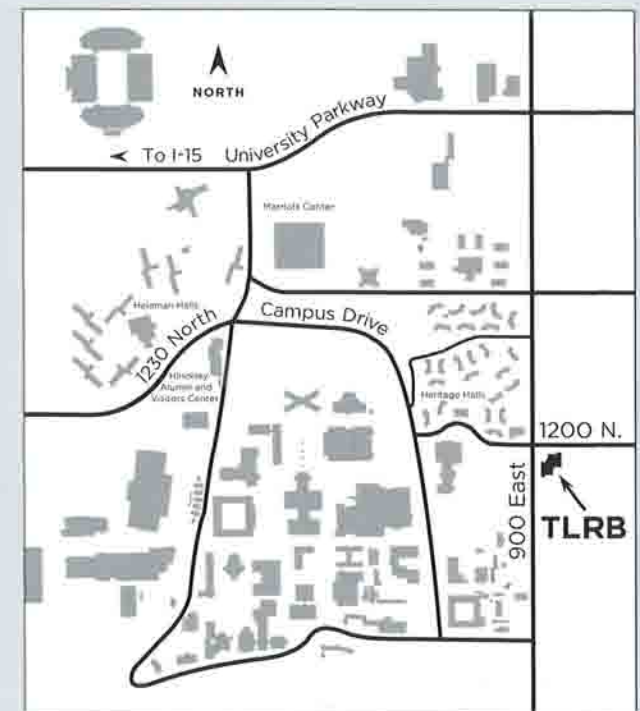

INFORMATION

Visitor parking is in the lots east and south of the facility. Please obtain a free temporary parking permit from the reception desk on level 1.

Modest fees are assessed for services. Accommodations are available for special circumstances.

Further information is available Monday through Friday at (801) 422-7759. Visit us on the Web at cc.byu.edu.

Services are provided on an equitable basis without regard to gender, sexual orientation, age, race, creed, national origin, or disability.

BYU COMPREHENSIVE CLINIC
241 JOHN TAYLOR BUILDING (TLRB)
1190 NORTH 900 EAST
PROVO, UT 84602

Visit us on the Web: CC.BYU.EDU